Rebels Hold League Lead Despite Thursday Loss

BY DOUG BARNES

The first place Rebels were downed last Thursday night by the Camrose Maroons 6 - 4. I did not see the game but I understand from some fans it was a good hockey game. Not many penalties only 8, 5 to the Rebels and 3 to Camrose.

On December 21st the Rebels were at home to Barrhead. They bombed the Chiefs 12 - 2. This was a real rout handed out by the Rebels. They scored almost at will. Henry Hodgson scored 5 goals. They could have used a couple of these against Camrose but Henry was not playing last Thursday.

Rebels goal tender Barry Pankewicz was given a three game suspension by the League Commissioner for unsportsman-like conduct in the Westlock - Rebel game of December 18th in which he was given a game misconduct.

Don't have much to write about this week with a poor game against Barrhead and one I did not see with Camrose. I think some Third Period, Drayton Valley statistics would be more practical then idle prattle.

The next home games for the Rebels will be Saturday, January 8th at 8:30 p.m. with Barrhead. And the one we have all been waiting for, Tuesday, January 11 when the second place Wetaskiwin Colonels visit the home of the Rebels. This should be a good one

Happy New Year Everyone!

One often wonders how very active people fill their days when they retire. Just listen to what the Harry Zolmers do in 'retirement". They bought a house in Chilliwack and proceeded without delay to make themselves a part of their community. Harry is on the executive of Rotary, is President of the Men's Club (A.-O.T.S.) and does a lot of volunteer work, both of the Zolmers work with Meals on Wheels and Mrs. Zolmer is active in U.C.W.

Mrs. Cornelia Wood's many friends are happy that she is recovering from the effects of a stroke she suffered at the end of May. We are sure Mrs. Wood's indomitable spirit will never allow her to retire to a wheel chair and hundreds of us are cheering for her.

For Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Durham and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Matlock the eighteen most important minutes of Christmas day were those when they talked to their children by telephone from Australia. Is it any wonder that the young folks sounded just a little homesick?

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Boodle and sons are most enthusiastic boosters for the Canadian north. During the Christmas holiday we were among those privileged to see Ted's films. The tundra in June is beautiful beyond description.

The Dunington Ladies Group held their annual pot luck supper on December 29th. After supper there was whist at which the winners were: High, Mrs. Harold Smithinsky and Mr. Jim Hewlett; Low, Joyce Smithinsky and Mr. Harold Smithinsky.

Mrs. Cecil (Madge) Wall spent Christmas with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Davidson.

Miss Edna Free, the Twerdochlibs and the Rezewskis gathered at the family home to celebrate Christmas. The only one missing from the family circle was Mr. Bruce Free who lives in B. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scoles of Forsyth, Montana, are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Scoles.

Mrs. Ron Stewart and two of the Stewart children are visiting Mrs. Stewart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Herndon.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Cargill's mother is seriously ill. Our thoughts are with you at this sad time, Mr. Cargill.

It was a real pleasure to have a short visit with Mr. Art Jorgesen the day before Christmas. Mr. Jorgesen, his wife, formerly Miss Ivy Herndon, and their son, Jens are spending this year in Eurgene, Oregon, where Mr. Jorgesen is completing his doctorate.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strickland, of Calgary, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason.

Moon Lake Club Meets

A regular meeting of the Moon Lake 4-H Beef Club was held December 15th at which time membership cards were distributed by the club leader.

"Get In There and Fight!"

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

Canada's new income tax laws which will result in reduced taxes for the majority of Canadians came into effect on January 1, 1972 after a ten-year long national debate and following some unusual votes in the House of Commons and the Senate.

Despite the many statements made against the new tax bill by various political spokesmen, when the time came to count the votes, no members of the three opposition parties were anxious to openly vote against it.

Votes are taken in two ways in Parliament. In the first instance, all votes are voice votes wherein all in favor of a motion shout, "Yea" and all opposed to it shout, "Nay". The Speaker then rules that the motion is carried, for example, then any five members who were opposed to it could request that a standing vote be taken in which all members stand up to declare what position they take. In such a case the exact number of votes on either side is counted, making the result more precise than the voice vote.

When the time came to vote on the tax bill the number of "Yeas" clearly was superior to the "Nays". Accordingly the Speaker ruled that the motion to pass the bill would carry. Ordinarily on a controversial bill this would result in the opposition demanding a standing vote so that their opposition could be on the record rather than hidden in the anonymity of a voice vote.

To the surprise of everyone, not a single opposition member rose to demand a standing vote, even though the Speaker had already ruled that they had won it.

The only interpretation which has been put on this strange twist in the vote on the bill is that the opposition members did not want to be publicly on record as having voted against a bill which will benefit the majority of the population.

The voting in the Senate was almost as strange. There too, the Conservative opposition spoke loudly against the bill, but when the time to vote came, only five Conservative Senators showed up, - and one voted for it.

As well, the only Senate spokesmen for the Social Credit party, former Alberta Premier, Senator Ernest Manning, voted for it, as did Senator Edward Lawson, a prominent union official and spokesman for the trade union movement in the Senate.

Thus after a ten-year gestation period did Canada's new income tax laws come into being.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By Kevin Peterson and Don Sellar (Of the Calgary Herald)

Alberta's controversial Communal Property Act is again under scrutiny, this time from the new Conservative government.

Municipal Affairs Minister David Russell announced the review recently immediately after he had fired the two-member Communal Property Control Board for providing the cabinet with inadequate information concerning a Hutterite colony in the Verdant Valley, east of Drumheller.

Mr. Russell noted "there are several areas in which the Communal Property Act and our human rights legislation do not meet" and said the government will be looking for opinions on possible changes for the legislation.

The attempt to control establishment of Hutterite colonies has had a stormy history since the Social Credit government first introduced legislation in 1942.

That bill was thrown out by the Supreme Court of Canada as unconstitutional. But an amended version was introduced later and after a lengthy court battle, was ruled valid in 1969.

The controlling legislation, which sets up a board that must approve any application to buy land by the Hutterites, came at the insistence of some rural Albertans who feared serious economic effects would arise from uncontrolled growth of Hutterite colonies.

Because of the size of the colonies, they can purchase goods wholesale and seriously hamper the economy of nearby towns, rural residents argued. Large colonies close together also decrease nearby land values because the Hutterites do not become involved in community affairs.

Opponents of the legislation say it is the kind of move that produces discrimination, prejudice and intolerance that "spawned Europe's Jewish ghettoes, South Africa's apartheid and the United States' color bar."

Hutterites are good farmers practising legitimate enterprise, opponents argue, and should not have to face restrictions aimed solely at them.

Mr. Russell has not yet decided what form the review will take, but in the meantime he has declared a moratorium on applications under the act. He now has three in his hands and says they will be delayed for about six months while the review takes place.

The minister has also not decided whether public hearings will be held. In the past, they have often become emotionally clouded.

"We are starting to get calls from people who have an interest, he said. "All we are doing to date is telling them they will be given a chance to present their thoughts in detail."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE - JANUARY 14, 1972

All teachers in the County of Parkland will attend a one-day professional development institute on January 14 at Spruce Grove. The purpose of the institute this year is to update teaching practices in creative writing, social studies, mathematics, science, business education, audio-visual media, and guidance. Several subject area specialists from the University of Alberta and other school systems will be present. A number of County school trustees will also attend. Students in the County of Parkland schools will not attend school on Friday, January 14, 1972.

DEPARTMENTAL EXAMINATIONS UNDER REVIEW

The table officers of the Alberta School Trustees Association met recently with personnel of the Department of Education to discuss the future of the present grade twelve departmental examinations.

Alberta minister of education, Lou Hyndman said that this matter has been under active consideration by his government for some time now. Recently a meeting was held with representatives of all Alberta universities to obtain their views. A brief recently presented to the government by the Alberta Teachers Association urged that these examinations be discontinued. Mr. Hyndman also said that many private and individual representations have been made to him and indicated that further meetings are planned with other concerned groups.

According to Mr. Hyndman, the government recognizes that the body of opinion on departmental exams is not unanimous. They are considered by many to be an objective measure of achievement and their use avoids the possibility of bias due to unsatisfactory student-teacher relationships through the year. The exams also provide some degree of equality control and are useful for research purposes.

However, the value of externally-prepared exams is increasingly being questioned as teachers become better educated and more qualified, a trend that increases each year in Alberta. And in today's classroom, the emphasis is changing to learning skills and acquiring abilities that are not easily evaluated by the single, year end, departmental exam.

The department already accepts teacher-recommended final marks in grades 10 and 11, and in selected grade 12 subjects as well. To this extent, all schools are already accredited to evaluate their students in grade ten and eleven, and partly so for grade 12. And in some departmental subjects, teacher recommendations constitute one half of the final mark awarded by the department.

This is the situation in which the matter is being reviewed. No outcome can be predicted but possibilities range all the way to complete accreditation of all high schools in the province.

"We want to do what will be of most value to the school learning situation," said Mr. Hyndman. He gave assurance that the interests of students will be safeguarded. An appeal procedure, for instance, is certain to be part of any new system.

In describing the government's current position Mr. Hyndman stressed there will be no significant change in the present system during this school year.

The School Committee is not prepared to assume responsibility for the management and operation of these rinks.

(4) The communities that cannot avail themselves of the assistance as outlined above but still operate a skating rink may submit an annual request for assistance. Each such request will be considered individually and the amount of financial support will be determined by the School Committee.

(5) Requests for assistance shall be forwarded to the School Committee by the local organization in charge of the skating rink.

TOMAHAWK

On Saturday, December 18th Tomahawk Pee Wee's played hockey against the Elks in Tomahawk with a tied score 3 all.

The Tomahawk School was the scene of a gathering of whist players. Five tables of players were present. First prize winners were Herman Stienke and Ellen Shaw. Consloation prize winners were Della Stienke and Peter Berryhill. Travelling prize winners were Ellen Shaw and Alex Namchuk. The next whist drive will be on January 14th, 1972.

The South End Unifarm Local had its Christmas party on Saturday, December 18th at the Recreation Centre. A lovely pot luck supper was enjoyed by all. Bingo was then played and lots of visiting done. Santa came to talk to the children and give out treats. The evening closed with coffee and pie.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Farrell and little Patrick left for Australia on Wednesday, December 22nd. From Edmonton they flew to Vancouver and then across the Pacific via Honolulu and Fiji Islands, on to home at Sidney, Australia. They were home to spend Christmas with Mr. O'Farrell's mother, two sisters and eight nieces and nephews. They looked forward to spending Christmas on the beach, surfing in 90° temperatures. Mr. O'Farrell says, "They leave with regrets of leaving behind many friends but the "cold and snow" is just two much." He'd never seen snow till he was thirty years of age and can't get used to it. He plans on teaching in Australia and the school year there starts soon after the New Year. They'll be missed by many here in Tomahawk, especially the grades seven and eight students.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
The Western Review Ltd.,
Drayton Valley, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

I can see no just cause for farm families, rural communities, or any other concerned people for allowing themselves to go into a state of euphoria over the recent noisily headlined "Small Farms Development Policy" announced by the federal government.

The announced policy does not deviate from the basic philosophy of the Task Force of Agriculture. Federal Agricultural Minister Hon. Bud Olson's claim that it is a more "humane approach" to the farm problem can only be justified on the basis of a change in terminology rather than technique.

The Task Force referred to a "reduction" of farmers ... the Alberta provincial Tradition and Transition report preferred the term "adjustment" on the grounds that there was less emotionalism attached to it.

After putting their heads together, the provincial and federal ministers of agriculture came out with a new label: "development"

Regardless of the number of changes in terminology, the program still amounts to extermination of family farms and the rural communities that service them.

If there is anything the farmers DON'T need right now, it is more credit to enable them to continue the process of canabalizing themselves, yet this is exactly what the "Small Farms Development Policy" is intended to achieve.

What farmers DO need is a pricing system similar to that of the European Economic Community ... a federally instituted two price system that would give farmers a higher return for domestically consumed production, increased costs of such production to be shared by an increase in consumer price and by govemment subsidy.

As an example, a 1½ cent increase per loaf of bread would give farmers an additional annual income of about $75 million. Those who would argue that consumers cannot afford such an increase are reminded that the price of bread has almost doubled in the past 20 years ... without any loss of consumption. They are also reminded that the farmer derived no benefit whatsoever from past increases, the price of wheat being lower today than it was 20 years ago.

There is no reason why 1½ million farmers should be expected to carry the cost of a cheap food policy that 20 million Canadians cannot affort to subsidize ... particularly when this country is faced with the undesirable prospect of having control of the land base and food production transferred from family farms to corporate interest that will be in a position to manage food supply (and prices!).

Using Statistics Canada figures, farmers use more mechanical horsepower today than industry. Farmers buy 30% of Canada's fuel requirements, 40% of the tires. Industries related to farm inputs and farm outputs employ about 35% of the labor force.

Can Canadians afford to allow short-sighted farm policies to destroy the family farm concept of food production through a continuous program of farmer reduction that has already been practised for about 20 years and is now being unscrupulously accelerated?

Yours truly,
William Dascavich.

PARKCOURT NEWS

During the week prior to the Christmas concert several small gatherings took place throughout the district to prepare for the event. The concert which was held on the 20th was very well attended. It was a different program in so far as the mothers had coached their own children at home and no rehearsal was held. All the children are to be congratulated for putting on such an enjoyable program. When it was over Santa arrived with presents and treats for all. A lovely lunch was served by the ladies of the Gay Gatherers to close the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Tuttle were very happy to move into their new home before Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Greenwood were visiting at the home of his parents during the holidays.

Those home from Edmonton for the long break from University were Andy and Marjorie Rosadiuk, Valerie, Faye and Marybell Fausak, Larry Rosadiuk, Cecil Fausak, Gloria Kremeniuk and Sonja Slemko.

John Fausak and Ray Fausak also spent Christmas at their homes.

Julia Semenyna was home from Three Hills for a few days.

Many different gatherings with families and neighbors took place during the Christmas week and even the extremely cold weather of Christmas day did not dampen the activities. The weather moderated for the rest of the holidays making things much more pleasant.

The Christmas dance was held on Monday the 27th and a very large crowd attended to enjoy the music of the Polka Dots from Edmonton. Several people renewed acquaintances with members of the orchestra. The winner of the Take a Chance board for an electric carving knife was Campbell Jardine of Entwistle.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Marchand spent three days visiting their relatives at Wainright. In spite of the cold weather they had a good trip with only a flat tire while there. Marshall Rudyk did their chores for them.

Mr. Larry Onstien from B. C. was staying at Iwaschuks for a few days and meeting old friends.

Club Discusses Calf Insurance

At the regular meeting of the Lobstick 4-H Beef Club held in the United Church basement in Evansburg it was decided to hold a Christmas party and gift exchange on December 20th. Club members decided to go carolling before the party.

Business of the meeting included a discussion on insurance for club members' calves.

Club members were unable to conduct their annual Christmas tree sale this year because of a lack of trees.

New Year's Greeting

As we enter the new year, we should pause a moment and look at our accomplishments of the past twelve months and our aspirations for 1972.

During 1971, Evansburg has experienced an unprecidented building boom. Building permits were issued to a value of $191,578.95, this does not include the new school which alone was $850,000. Our population increased from 501 in January to 527 according to a preliminary report of the June census, and by now it should be closer to 600. Our water treatment plant should be in operation in January, also a good start was made on the curling rink, with the walls and the roof having been completed. The area between the Village boundary and the overpass road has been annexed to the Village and the overpass has been illuminated, making a remarkable improvement to the entry to our Village. We cannot of course overlook the successful crossing of the final hurdle to the construction of our new High School.

In 1972, we anticipate another good year of construction, considering the high demand for housing. The Village will make available some 20 fully serviced lots for residential purposes. We also expect a new front end will be constructed to complement both the arena and new curling rink. We also anticipate a good sidewalk building program as well as some street oiling to help alleviate the dust situation.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks to the many people and organizations who have worked so hard to make our Village a vibrant community. My sincere thanks go to the Village staff and my fellow councillors for their co-operation and assistance in the past year, also special thanks to Fred Croft who dedicated four years to Council, John Lauer who gave three years to Council and Rex Rimmer for his contribution to Council; I appreciated the opportunity of working with you.

Finally I wish all the citizens of Evansburg and the district supporters, the compliments of this wonderful Christmas Season and may peace, joy and happiness be with you throughout the new year.

Guy Dompnier, Mayor,
Village of Evansburg.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE D.A.

Phone Stony Plain 777-2231 between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

E. C. LOWE, District Agriculturist — TOM BROWN, Asst. Dist. Agriculturist

In Drayton Valley each Wednesday at Sekura Auction Mart from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

SEASONS GREETINGS

This is the District Extension office in Stony Plain. Agriculturally, the year 1971 will probably go down in history as a rewarding one for most of the producers.

A bountiful crop harvested under average conditions produced a high grade product. Record grain sales have opened quotas. However, these good sales will need followup if carryover is not to show a significant increase. The dairy industry saw a shrinking of the burdensome surpluses and a slight uptum in prices. Beef producers enjoyed an excellent year. Sheep numbers are actually increasing! Even hog prices are expected to improve -- eventually.

Locally, there has been increased participation in our programs and use of our services. Lets continue that trend in 72.

It is on a note of optimism, therefore that we would like to take this opportunity of extending on behalf of Georgianna McDavid, Mary Norman, Earle Lowe and Tom Brown to all our friends our very best wishes for a Prosperous New Year.

Thirty members attended the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Stony Plain Seed Cleaning Association Ltd. on December 18.

Net revenues were back up again this year to approximately the same level as 1969-70 due to a better volume of handlings as compared to last year. (to June 30, 1971, the plant cleaned 402,185 bushels of seed - 10,011, 86,835, and 273,240 bushels of wheat; oats and barley commercially cleaned for seed, 5728 bushels of Pedigreed oats; and 26,371 bushels of Pedigree barley were also cleaned.) The plant served 431 farmers to June 30, 1971.

The Shareholders approved the Boards recommendation that there be no increase in rates for services, except a minor adjustment in the charge for cleaning commercial rapeseed. Mr. J. H. Mclaughlin pointed out the rates charged by your association are among the lowest in the Province with no increase since we started operation 18 years ago.

Due to good net earnings and a very satisfactory cash reserve position, the shareholders approved a 15% patronage dividend on all seed cleaned and treated by members.

Shareholders also recommended a penalty of 1% per month for non-payment of accounts. The meeting emphasized the whole operation is set up on a strictly cash basis and does not wish to enter the credit field.

A slide presentation showing the advantages of using a non-mercurical, systemic seed treatment for cereals opened up discussion on rates, cost in bulk, benefits, residues, etc.

Members also were taken behind the scenes in plant breeding, testing, production and inspection of Pedigreed seed by the new film "Raise More...For Less".

Bill Wild is your new President and Henry Singer, Vice-President. Eugene Boyko and Leo Verbeck are the new Directors.

The Board also discussed the need for investigating plans for a new plant in the near future.

KNOW YOUR SCHOOLS

This "question-and-answer" column provides an opportunity for citizens to ask questions about education. If you have any question concerning the schools you are encouraged to send it to " "Know Your Schools?" - P.O. Box 777, Stony Plain, Alberta.

QUESTION

When the new Drayton Valley High School was in the planning stages, was potential attendance from the County of Leduc used to justify a statement of need?

ANSWER

Only students residing in the County of Parkland No. 31 were used as a basis for anticipating future enrolments at the new high school.

QUESTION

If students from the County of Leduc were provided with transportation by the County of Leduc, would the parents be responsible for payment of tuition fees? If so, how much would it amount to?

ANSWER

Unless a separate tuition agreement existed between the two counties (such as the one which exists between the County of Parkland and the Yellowhead School Division for Evansburg High School), parents would be responsible for tuition fees which amount to $120.00 per year or $60.00 per semester for each non-resident high school student. In order to provide accommodation and staff for several students, the County of Parkland would likely require a signed tuition agreement between the two counties.

QUESTION

If tuition fees are payable by parents, where is our school tax money going since 90% of the transportation costs for students attending another County is recovered from the Government?

ANSWER

It is true that Government grants do cover between 80 and 90% of transportation costs on the average, but there are also student grants received on a classroom basis to cover instructional and other costs associated with operating a school system. These would be available to the school system offering the instructional services.

However, the answer to the second question above suggests that tuition fees would not be payable by the parents if several students were involved. The County of Leduc would be held responsible for fees under a tuition agreement. If the County of Leduc is unable to solve your problem by the proposed change in bus services to Breton, then it's School Committee will probably begin discussions with the County of Parkland about a possible tuition agreement.

Witnesses Meet In Edmonton

Braving below-zero temperatures, Jehovah's witnesses from various centres west of Edmonton assembled together in the Ross Sheppard High School December 24 - 26.

The program began Friday evening with over 1,000 in attendance. Emphasized by Mr. J. Scaglione, district supervisor, was the importance to involve the very young in the ministry school, during a model program which was demonstrated Friday evening but conduted regularly in each congregation of Jehovah's witnesses

Of interest was the Baptismal service Saturday moming. Twenty eight men and women, ages from 12 to 72 were baptized to become new ministers. It was reported that during the year 1971, 149,-808 new ministers were added to already soaring numbers bringing the total number of Jehovah's witness ministers world-wide to 1,590,793. Two local citizens, Albert and Pat Bouchard were among those ordained.

The guest speaker at the assembly, Mr. J. Scaglione, of Toronto delivered the keynote Bible talk entitled, "Can You Live Forever? -- Will You?" to an attendance of 1,634.

Mrs. Maclure A.C.W. Guest

The last meeting of the year for the Anglican Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Burrows. Mrs. Muriel Maclure was the guest who showed films on the work of the Maclures in Africa.

The next regular meeting will be held on January 10 at 2:00 p.m. in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jessie Louth, Rocky Rapids. All ladies are welcome.

Workers Advised Not To Advance Money

H. L. Voisey, director of Canada Manpower operations for the prairie region, has warned unemployed workers not to advance sums of money to persons offering them employment.

In recent incidents across the prairies persons representing themselves as hiring agents for established Canadian companies have recruited workers and bilked them of money, supposedly for the purchase of safety equipment or the advance payment of union dues.

In one such incident in Winnipeg, a man claiming to be a hiring agent for a Toronto mining company recruited two workers from whom he later extracted payments of $200 and $80. He then accompanied the workers to the local Union Centre before disappearing.

In Red Deer, Alberta, a man representing himself as a hiring agent for a major pipeline company recruited one worker, collected $100 for what he said were union dues, and disappeared.

Mr. Voisey points out that advance payment of money for these purposes is not an accepted practice in employee recruiting. Anyone offered employment, and later approached for cash payments for any purpose, should immediately check with the nearest Canada Manpower Centre.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

Are you having good friends over for a quiet dinner party, or are you expecting friends to drop in for an open house, or are you thinking of a buffet for your holiday party? For your entertainment why not try a Wine and Cheese Party.

WINE AND CHEESE

It is not necessary for one to be a gourmet cook or a expert-ise wine and cheese connoisseur to have a very successful wine and cheese party. Rules that dictate you must eat this cheese with this wine are out -- because you may prefer a different combination. For the novice, a few guidelines may increase your confidence.

CHEESE POINTERS

1. Cheese should be served at room temperature - keep them refrigerated, individually wrapped in their own wrapper or in clear plastic until two hours before serving. The reason being - no cheese can stand a series of abrupt temperature changes.
2. Six types of cheese (one of each type) are more than sufficient for eight to ten people.
3. Left-over cheese, can be stored wrapped individually in plastic wrap for a month in the refrigerator.

WINE POINTERS

1. Sweet wines tend to mask the taste buds, dulling the palate. Consider sweetness and dryness.
2. Remember that expensive wines are not necessarily the best and imports not always superior to Canadian wines or your home-made wines.
3. Cheese, itself, will often suggest the type of wine. Light creamy cheeses (Swiss Cheese) should be eaten first with light white wine. Strong cheeses are best with a red wine such as Burgundy.
4. It is not necessary to have three different types of wine.
5. The best ruling for a great party is to serve any wine which you prefer.

ON BEING A HOSTESS

One dictionary gives the definition of a hostess as "One who entertains another." It is important that you entertain in your own way, to suit your personality and the group of guests that have been invited. A good hostess remembers to be relaxed and her guests will be. If there are newcomers it is her responsibility to introduce them to the other guests.

Lillian Peterson of Edmonton along with Loraine and Leona Biffert are visitors at the home of the Harry Clark family.

The James Hausers have their skating rink going full swing, much to the enjoyment of the young people. Thank you Jim and Janet.

Mr. and Mrs. McNamee are expecting their daughter Sandy home for Christmas, while Gail will be in Austria where she hopes to do some skiing. She is on a world tour and Germany was her first stop. From Tyrol, Austria she makes side trips the last being to London. She sends Seasons Greetings to her family at Gainford and reports a wonderful time.

Mrs. Lawley says she finished her twenty-one T shirts in plenty of time without having to sew on Christmas Eve.

A vote of thanks is extended to Mrs. Lawley for keeping Gainford in the news. Thanks from all of us.

The Clippers attended a Christmas Holiday Midget Tournament at Dawson Creek last week and came home with one win and two losses. After an excellent performance against Fort St. John in which they defeated Fort St. John 8 - 3, the Dawson Creek hospitality just overwhelmed them and they lost to Grande Prairie 2 - 1 and to Fairview 4 - 1. The only high-lite of the tournament was 7 point performance by Dean Samis. Samis scored five goals and two assists. Six of his points came against Fort St. John. His hat-trick was clean cut - three in a row.

HART CANTELON

Readers wishing to write to Mr. Cantelon are invited to do so. All letters to be forwarded to Hart Cantelon Counselling Services Ltd., 1600 Cambridge Building, Edmonton. Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope to ensure a reply.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

I am concerned about our welfare case-worker in our community. The problem is that he repeats everything he hears. We have applied for a foster child. When he came to interview us, he told us about four different families and their troubles. All of these people are well-known to us and the community. For example, we have had to ask a postponement for the taking of our new foster child because of my illness. This we kept confidential, and hoped he would too, but we have heard this come back to us from neighbors. I don't think this is anybody's business, and I don't think it was any of my business to hear about it from other people. I resented this, and told him so, but he just laughed. What do you think?

Dear Parent:

One of the great needs in interpersonal relationships, (that is if confidence is to be developed) is that of complete confidiality. This applies to all of us who are dealing with people whether it be at the employer-employee level, as teachers, as social workers, as clergymen, you name it. Indeed from a legal standpoint, if a person wanted to make trouble for a misdemeanor in this area, a great deal could happen even to the point of a person being dismissed from his post. If I were you I would face him up with this fact, and perhaps you'll help him to learn a lesson before he really gets into trouble.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

There is much conflict in our family. My husband is afflicted with an incurable disease, and since he has been unable to work, our family has been in difficulty. We are on social assistance now, but the problems associated with his illness have grown to the point where I just cannot handle them any more. My husband suffers a lot from pain. He is in bed for days at a time. During these periods, our children cannot even talk in another room without him getting angry. When he carries on this way, I try to understand his feelings, but at the same time I am trying to protect the children from unnecessary upset. Then I get into hot water with him, because I've done this. I am just about out of my mind trying to deal with this and am on nerve pills. Possibly I am not handling things the right way. This I must find out. Will you help me?

Dear Worried:

I would suggest that your first step is to lay this whole problem before your doctor and tell him of the implications of your husband's illness so far as the children are concerned. Could be that some steps might be taken to isolate your husband during these periods of intense pain. Maybe the doctor can prescribe some kind of medication which would make these times more bearable so far as your husband is concerned. When you talk with your doctor, ask him if he thinks you and the children should have some family counselling sessions so that they better understand what is going on and that you are not just protecting them from something they don't actually comprehend. But don't lose hope. One of the happiest homes I know, the mother of that home lives her role from an artificial lung machine, and that family have grown into a relationship that is seldom duplicated in families that have complete health physically.

TABLERITE STEAK GOURMET

TEMPT THEM with TASTIER FOODS

Your choice of any of the Tablerite Steaks. Try this sauce for that unusual gourmet touch: Combine and blend together 2 tbsp. Tablerite salad oil, 2 tbsp. vinegar, 2 tbsp. dry mustard, 1 tbsp. lemon juice, 1 tsp. paprika, few drops tabasco, ½ tsp. garlic salt, ¼ tsp. pepper. Brush on steaks 15 minutes prior to broiling and before serving brush again lightly and sprinkle with chopped fresh parsley.
